U.S. Olympic Team Coaches

usaswimming.org | @USASwimming | @USASwimmingNews | #ParisOlympics

Todd DeSorbo

Women's Head Coach

Todd DeSorbo, the head coach of the University of Virginia Swimming & Diving program, has led the Hoos to four-consecutive NCAA Championships titles. Internationally, DeSorbo was an assistant coach for the U.S. at the Olympic Games

Tokyo 2020, where the team won 30 medals (11 gold), and the head coach for the U.S. at the 2022 World Aquatics (formerly FINA) Championships, where the team won 45 medals (17 gold).

DeSorbo has four swimmers (Kate Douglass, Alex and Gretchen Walsh, and Emmva Weber) who train in his UVA program and have qualified for this year's U.S. Olympic Team.

Ron Aitken

Open Water Head Coach

Ron Aitken's Sandpipers of Nevada program has had a phenomenal run of open water results in recent years, seeing at least one men's and one women's national title go to a Sandpiper in each of the last three Open Water National Championships competitions. Katie Grimes, who trains under Aitken, became the first athlete (across any sport) to qualify for the Paris Olympics when she punched her ticket to the Olympic 10K back in February of this year.

Aitken has been with Sandpipers of Nevada since 1994. In 2022, he was named the USOPC Developmental Coach of the Year, and received USA Swimming's Open Water Achievement Award in 2023.

Anthony Nesty

Men's Head Coach

Anthony Nesty, the current head coach at the University of Florida, has been on international coaching staffs for the U.S. every year since 2021, including being the head coach for the 2022 World Aquatics World Championships.

A three-time Olympic swimmer for Suriname, Nesty joined the Gators' coaching staff just five years after competing at the 1992 Olympics. This upcoming collegiate season will mark his 27th season with the program. This year's U.S. Olympic team features one collegiate athlete (Emma Weyant) and four pro athletes (Katie Ledecky, Caeleb Dressel, Bobby Finke, Kieran Smith) who train under Nesty.
